

MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 18, 1929. C

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Nov. 17. (To the Editor of The Times): I see where a transcontinental air line has made a big cut in fares. That's what aviation should have done in the first place; they knew they had to lose money for a year or so, so loss is carrying a full load. It's the financial fear that keeps more people on the ground than the physical fear. Another suggestion, if I may—check the ad writer or Chamber of Commerce that uses the expression "air-minded."

People think it's some kind of mental condition that you have to work yourself up into before leaving the ground. If you ride in a 1918 Buick you are not necessarily "air-minded," or if in a Lincoln, you are not "Lincoln-minded." You travel in what you can afford. Even a phlegm mind has no more air in it than a subway guard's has.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Series of Conferences Will Take Place of Meeting First Proposed

Rail Group Slated to Gather Tomorrow and Various Others to Follow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—President Hoover decided today to lead a series of conferences with the heads of banking, industrial, agricultural and labor groups over the country to promote continued business progress, instead of calling all into a single meeting Thursday as had been his original plan.

The first meeting will be held at the White House Tuesday with others to follow daily during most of this week and probably a part of the next. This will serve to coordinate the work the President has in mind by getting the individual groups active in a survey of their own lines before the task of coordinating the whole is undertaken.

NEW NAVAL PAY Scale Sought

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Secretary Adams has advised Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee that legislation to eliminate the inequalities in the pay of Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Marine Corps, Coast and Geodetic Service and public health service officers is necessary.

He based the need on a survey conducted by an interdepartmental board which recommended that a readjustment of the entire basic pay structure for both commissioned and enlisted men be brought about as soon as possible.

GOOD LOSING LIFE FIGHT

Doctors Resort to Oxygen

Heroic Measures Adopted as Death Approaches War Secretary

Hoover Denied Permission to Visit Beside of Cabinet Aide

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. (AP)—(Monday)—Oxygen was being administered to Secretary Good at 1:15 o'clock this morning in an effort to prolong his life.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The condition of Secretary Good late tonight is reported to be worse than at any time since he underwent an appendicitis operation Wednesday.

The White House said heroic measures had been resorted to by attending physicians in an effort to revive the strength of the stricken Secretary, but it is believed that death is imminent.

At the White House President Hoover waited word from Walter Reed Hospital. Returning from church this morning, Mr. Hoover inquired into the advisability of visiting his War Secretary again, but he was told that the patient was experiencing only brief moments of consciousness, and a visit might further upset him.

Mrs. Good and her two sons are at the hospital. The older son of the Secretary, James W. Good, Jr., arrived from Evanston, Ill., where he is a student at Northwestern University, last night. His father is seriously ill. He has been unable to recognize him.

While the worst has been expected by many of Secretary Good's friends for the last twenty-four hours, they have been amazed at the remarkable vitality he has shown. Considerable hope was held out for his recovery in spite of the seriousness of the operation, until yesterday morning, when it was announced that general blood poisoning had developed.

This brought on an attendant high fever and a quick pulse, accompanied by increased respiration. Secretary Hoover, Good's associate in the cabinet, and an eminent physician, hurried to Walter Reed hospital. Previously Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician, had arrived.

The two joined Dr. William L. Keller, chief of the Walter Reed staff, in awaiting developments.

TURKS WILL KEEP FRIDAY ON SUNDAY

Angora Government Will Shift Moslem Sabbath to First Day of Week

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17. (AP)—Leaders of the new Turkey have determined to start observance of the Sabbath on the Christian Sunday instead of on Friday, severing another of the ties that bound the nation to the Moslem world.

The law substituting Sunday for Friday will come before the Parliament at Angora within the next few days. Meanwhile the official press has been paying the way with the argument that Turkey cannot afford to lose two business days weekly at a time when the nation is bending every effort to follow up political victories with economic triumphs.

In order to placate citizens who are inclined religiously, but lack economic interests, the law proposed will change the Turkish name for Friday, "Fasur," to "Ojuma," meaning Friday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Projected mergers, consolidations of large business, industrial or banking enterprises will be subjected to approval of the Federal Trade Commission under a bill Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, proposes to introduce tomorrow.

Interests desiring to merge will be required to satisfy the commission that their action will not constitute unlawful monopoly, unreasonable restraint of trade or unfair competition in the business commerce before a license would be granted to permit the merger.

Debris Indicates Airplane Wreck With Four Lost

MARSEILLE (France) Nov. 17. (AP)—Finding of airplane wreckage off Corsica today is believed to indicate that four persons had met death. The wreckage was identified as that of the regular mail plane on the Marseilles-Tunis route, which left here at 10 a.m. yesterday.

The plane carried a pilot, mechanic, radio operator and one passenger. This is the third plane to be wrecked in the Mediterranean within ten days. The passengers on the other two were rescued off the Balearic Islands, although one of the parties had spent an entire night in floating on the high seas in the seaplane.

Veteran observers have described the past week as the worst flying weather in the history of French aviation.

FLOOD AREA IN ALABAMA GIVEN HOPE

Decreasing Danger Seen as Clearing Skies Tell of Early Fall of River

MONTEGOMERY (Ala.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Clearing skies gave promise today to residents of low territory bordering Alabama's major streams of decreasing danger from floods.

The Alabama, the State's most treacherous river, was reported to have reached practically stationary along its upper reaches, while its principal tributaries, the Coosa and Tallapoosa, are said to be rising at a rate so slow as not to offer a threat to low-lying sections.

The Alabama was out of its banks at only the most low-lying sections between this city and Prattville, about sixteen miles to the north-west. Several minor streams were reported out of their banks, with outlying plantation residents in need of assistance.

P. H. Smith, United States meteorologist here, forecast unsettled weather for the next twenty-four hours, with the rivers starting to drop after that period, barring additional rains. The Alabama has cleared 13 feet since 7 a.m. today, after rising precipitately to reach the top of its banks.

House of Commons Father Expires in London at 81 Years of Age

Gave Life to "Helping Erin;" Never Hated England; Was Noted Writer

LONDON, Nov. 18. (Monday) (AP)—T. P. O'Connor, "Father of the House of Commons," died at 3:18 a.m. He was 81 years of age.

The aged Parliamentarian, who was affectionately known as "Tay Pay," had been unconscious for a considerable part of the last forty-eight hours. For ten days he had been confined to his bed by the suppurating condition of one of his legs.

"Tay Pay" always was a Nationalist—in fact, the last survivor of the Irish Nationalist party. But he was not an agitator, nor did he express hatred for England.

Contrary to his reputation, he advocated a better understanding between the English and Irish, and with the establishment of the Irish Free State there came to a reality one of the most cherished dreams of his long life. Once the treaty was signed, he urged the Irish, particularly those in the United States, to support it. Although a self-exile of Erin who had spent the greater part of his life in England, that fact, if anything, had redoubled his love for his native land.

FAMED JOURNALIST While the part he played in the long struggle that led to the foundation of the Irish Free State stamped him as one of the great figures in that movement, Mr. O'Connor won fame and many honors in other lines of endeavor. Probably next to "Tay Pay," he was more frequently referred to as the "Father of the House of Commons," in which he had held a seat since 1880. He was honored by being named a privy councillor and enjoyed the reputation of being one of the most versatile and famous journalists of Europe.

When he reached the seventy-fifth milestone of life, Mr. O'Connor was feted by some 200 members of the British Parliament, a signal tribute in which every party was represented to do him honor. Since that time the recurring anniversary of his birthday had received world-wide recognition, the venerable statesman receiving congratulatory messages from rulers, heads of governments and prominent figures from virtually every country in the world.

His wide popularity was said to have been due largely to his policy of never permitting political differences to interfere with personal relations. As to his two principal activities in life, he always regarded himself as a journalist first and a politician after. His advancing years did not lessen his love of life and when he was 77 expressed the hope that he would live to be 100. A year before, in a message to the youth of England he said: "Life is a great adventure. Live every day of it. Don't be hurried until you are dead."

Mr. O'Connor was born at Athlone, Ireland, October 5, 1848, the eldest son of Thomas O'Connor. He was educated at the College of the Immaculate Conception, Athlone.

and Queen's College, Galway, where he obtained his master's degree with the highest honors. He was only 18 when he earned his bachelor of arts degree.

ENTERS NEWSPAPER WORK

Newspaper work beckoned Mr. O'Connor, as it did many of the members of the old Irish Nationalist Parliamentary party, and upon completing his college course he became a sub-reporter on the staff of Saunders' News Letter in Dublin. Three years later he went to London, where he was engaged as sub-editor of Lord Burnham's Telegraph.

Two years after his arrival in London he was elected to the House of Commons as the member for Galway. On being returned as the member for Galway and Liverpool in 1886, he chose the latter seat and since then had been sent back at each successive election.

In 1888, Mr. O'Connor married a Mrs. Wright.

With the beginning of his journalistic career, Mr. O'Connor took an interest in politics and for many years was one of the closest and most important supporters of Parnell. When he entered Parliament he immediately took his place as one of the most eloquent and outstanding members of the Irish party. Soon he became known as the Irish orator in England, wielding an influence that caused the Irish vote in Dublin to swing against Gladstone in 1885 and thus

Discharged Girl Typist Told By Court She Can Eat All She Wants

BERLIN, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Because she ate a dozen hot dogs during working hours and then fell sick, a part blond typist, Greta Bertold, was fired by her employers. Before the court where she sued for wrongful dismissal, Greta explained that she had made a dollar bet with one of her colleagues that she could eat a dozen hot dogs at a stretch.

The judge held that she had a right to eat as many hot dogs as she pleased since the law knows no limit to which bologna sausages can be consumed safely. He also ordered her employer to pay Greta a month's salary in lieu of a notice.

ROAD TO FAME

It was in the British Museum that Mr. O'Connor actually found the road that led to fame. He read the volumes of Buckle's History of Civilization, which he described as "terrible" in "Memories of an Old Parliamentarian," which Mr. O'Connor published in 1899. The volume also recalls some of the thrilling episodes of the days of Parnell, the "unconquered king."

Then it was that he was invited to stand as a candidate for the House of Commons for Galway, Ireland, on his "Disraeli" to pay expenses and returned to London an M.P.

During his career as a journalist in London Mr. O'Connor had represented American newspapers as correspondent, and was publisher of several newspapers which he established. He founded and was first editor of the Sun, the Star, the Weekly Sun, M.A.P. and T.P.'s Weekly.

He was a versatile and prolific writer and in addition to his numerous newspaper articles and a large number of essays he was author of "Lord Beaconsfield—A Biography," "The Parnell Movement," "Gladstone's House of Commons," "Old Love Stories," "The Phantom Millions."

What was regarded as one of his most remarkable journalistic feats was the biography he wrote of Joseph Chamberlain at the time of the latter's death in 1914. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon of December 18, 1914, Mr. O'Connor called Mr. Chamberlain in the House of Commons requesting him to write the biography of the dead statesman. He began to test at 6:30 o'clock and in three hours completed a sketch of 6000 words.

In August, 1924, when he was president of the House of Commons, Mr. O'Connor attracted considerable attention in the United States by prohibiting the showing in England of David Griffith's motion picture, "America." The film, based on the American Revolution, Mr. O'Connor considered calculated to cause bad relationship between British and Americans.

The universal popularity of Mr. O'Connor was again evidenced in July, 1928, when friends of all political parties assembled about him to present him with a trust fund of $50,000.

Blonds Shown in True Color by Television

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Blonds are coming into television by their natural colors in the latest step of the Bell Telephone Laboratories toward producing pictures in color.

In earlier apparatus the blues showed well, but blond shades were darkened. This disadvantage was applied particularly to persons of dark or tanned complexion.

The invention that gives true values to yellow shades is described in a report to the Optical Society of America by H. E. Ives of the Bell laboratories. It is a new kind of photo-electric cell, which uses sodium instead of potassium as its active color registering coating.

In the new color apparatus the natural shades are picked up by a battery of twenty-four photoelectric tubes, two of them receiving through blue glass, eight through green and fourteen through red.

The numbers show the relative sensitiveness of the cells to colors. Blue still is the strongest.

suburb of Tacubaya, near the Presidential palace. He was accompanied by Mario Gomez, Minister of Agriculture; Pulo Casarano, chief of the Federal district, and Genaro Estrada, acting Foreign Minister. When the polls were opened this morning nine buses loaded with troops equipped with side arms, rifles and machine guns were drawn up in the rear of the palace in readiness to meet any disorder.

The votes deposited today must be received and checked by the Chamber of Deputies before the result is officially announced. The election today was made necessary by the assassination in July, 1926, of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, who had been elected for his second term to succeed President Calles. He would have been inaugurated last December.

Fortun Gil was named provisional President and took office at that time to serve until another could be chosen in a general election to complete the term.

Ortiz Rubio, the new President-elect, is a member of the National Revolutionary party, of the same political organization as former President Calles and the late Gen. Obregon.

VOLE HELD NOT FREE

The Revolutionary party asserted it had polled 86,889 votes in the Federal District alone. The Anti-Revolutionary vote was not believed to have approached this. The Revolutionary party also claimed commanding majorities in twenty-two of the twenty-eight States.

While the Anti-Revolutionaries conceded the victory of Ortiz Rubio, their President, Victorio R. Gonzalez, said that nevertheless Vasconcelos was the true President of "Mexico."

Gonzalez issued a signed statement charging that there had been no free voting anywhere in the country.

"In the field of democracy Mexico has failed," the statement read. "In all towns and cities citizens have been prevented from voting and only public functionaries charged with the duty of maintaining order have been permitted to do so, excepting in very few instances."

CONGROSS STATEMENT

His statement continued: "In this capital, arms clubs and pulque (a native alcoholic drink) were distributed to official elements who since last night have occupied the voting booths refusing to permit a single Anti-Revolutionary citizen to vote."

"This morning the Federal Palace of Justice was insufficiently large to contain more than 10,000 Anti-Revolutionaries who, deprived of their rightful vote, went there to protest. Our partisans have been villainously assaulted throughout the public and the jails are filled with them."

"Civilization is in mourning. Our consciences have been stained by the record of immorality, not even the most hateful tyrannies have witnessed such acts. We leave it to the nation to judge impartially and severely this brutal aggression against liberty and law. For the Mexicans, Vasconcelos is President."

TREVINO'S STATEMENT

Manuel Perez Trevino, president of the National Revolutionary party, issued a statement saying that with 90 per cent of the country heard from Ortiz Rubio had won with a majority that might exceed 1,000,000 votes.

"Revolutionary ideals and the serene work of the National Revolutionary party have won over the unprincipled shouting and propaganda without these and without ideals of the opponents," the statement said. "The people have triumphed. The activities of the Revolutionary party have been carried out with the most complete patriotism and are crowned with the largest success."

Ortiz Rubio spent the day at the resort village of Uruapan in the State of Michoacan. Vasconcelos was reported to be at Mazatlan.

VASCONCELOS UNDER GUARD IN MAZATLAN

MAZATLAN (Sin. Mex.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Jose Vasconcelos, Mexican Presidential candidate in today's election, and who had been reported missing for several days, was located in a hotel here this afternoon. He was closely guarded by several followers.

After casting his vote this afternoon Vasconcelos and his bodyguard left for Culiacan, Sin.

Police prevented and political demonstrations during the voting and no unusual incident was manifested here.

FOUR LOSE LIVES IN VERA CRUZ CLASHES

VERA CRUZ (Mex.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Four persons were killed here today in election clashes and many were wounded. Joaquin Lopez, president of the local Ortiz Rubio party, himself was killed after he was asserted to have slain a 14-year-old follower of Jose Vasconcelos.

The newspaper El Dictamen reported that when the Vasconcelistas fired at the polling booths the opposition refused to admit them and there were several shootings. Troops appeared and dispersed the demonstrators in sections where they were not permitted to use the regular polling places the Vasconcelistas opened up private booths where they cast their votes. It is not believed that such votes are legal.

The municipal authorities received word of disorders of more or less serious proportions in many parts of the State. Troops are said to have been neutral everywhere and to have attended strictly to their role of restoring order.

SIXTEEN HURT IN CLASH NEAR TAMPIOCO

TAMPIOCO (Mex.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Sixteen persons were injured today in an election clash at Cecilia, an oil town near here. All was quiet in this city, however.

When followers of Jose Vasconcelos approached the polling place they were met with derisive shouts and some shooting by partisans of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, who had almost complete control of the voting places. The Vasconcelistas, who had been disarmed by the authorities, used stones as missiles until mounted police appeared and drove them into a motion-picture theater. The police followed and made several arrests.

Vasconcelistas protested to the Secretary of the Interior that the law had been violated by members of the other party.

VOTING AT JUAREZ WITHOUT DEMONSTRATION

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 17. (AP)—National and local elections ended in Juarez, Chihuahua, this afternoon without demonstration or rioting and with estimates of the vote giving Gustavo Flores a 6-to-1 majority for Mayor, and Ortiz Rubio almost as large a majority for the Presidency of the republic.

DRY AGENTS SHIFT IDAHO LIQUOR WAR

Grand Jury Plans on More Indictments in State-Wide Liquor Conspiracy

COEUR D'ALENE (Idaho) Nov. 17. (AP)—Federal prohibition agents today shifted their stage to this city from Moscow and Mullan to continue their war on what they termed "the greatest rum conspiracy in Idaho for many years."

The grand jury, which returned forty-four indictments against Mullan, the greatest rum conspiracy in Idaho for many years, including the Mayor, Chief of Police, Councilmen and the Sheriff of Shoshone county, will meet tomorrow morning here to continue its work. More than 100 witnesses and defendants in liquor actions will be on hand for testimony and hearing.

United States Marshal Breshears, who has supervised the arrest of twenty-eight men and women, said that a new crop of indictments covering the "Wallace and Kellogg phases" of the asserted conspiracy will be turned out by this session of the grand jury.

The government intimated that it will base its prosecution of the hush officials on the charge of having accepted "protection" money from bootleggers and soft-drink bars which sold liquor. Mayor Harwell of Mullan, answered that a special tax levied on the city by the State of Idaho was the money for protection. Every cent has been used for paying and other legitimate purposes, he said.

Lutz, University of California scientist now at Bagdad. He writes it is cheaper to buy antiquities than it is to dig for them, and the race has become such a world-wide affair he urges the California school to send additional funds for purchases if many of the treasure of the ancients are to be obtained.

MEXICO AIRMAIL RATES REDUCED

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Airmail rates from Mexico to the United States have been decreased from 35 centavos to 20 centavos. Twenty centavos is about 10 cents.

To points in Mexico's interior the rate has been reduced from 35 centavos to 21 centavos, the extra being a tax for infant public welfare work.

The rate to Canada and to Guatemala remains 35 centavos.

Victorious Candidate to Continue Calles Policies

He is 52 Years of Age and of Old Michoacan Family

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 17. (AP)—Pascual Ortiz Rubio, Mexican President-elect, has combined engineering, the military, and politics in a career which will reach a climax with inauguration as President February 5.

He is 52 years of age, born of an old Mexican family in Valladolid, now Morelia, capital of Michoacan, which some writers refer to as Mexico's Virginia. Later, in 1917, he was appointed Governor of that State by Gen. Venustiano Carranza, then President.

ENVOY TO GERMANY

He was educated a civil engineer and practiced his profession both in civil life and as an officer in the Mexican army. His revolutionary activities caused his imprisonment in the last days of the Porfirio Diaz regime.

After his term as Governor of Michoacan he traveled abroad and in 1923 was named by his intimate friend, Gen. Alvaro Obregon, as Ambassador to Germany, giving up that post after the accession of Gen. Calles to the Presidency to become Ambassador to Brazil.

ENGINEERING AUTHOR

He was nominated by the National Revolutionary party, which Gen. Obregon founded, early in the year as candidate to succeed provisional President Emilio Portes Gil and fill out the unexpired term of the late Gen. Obregon, victim of an assassin's bullet.

He has written a number of technical engineering works, is known personally as affable and easy of approach. It is expected he will continue the policies inaugurated by Gen. Calles and Obregon.

Report Shows Dropping Off in Pear Crop

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Pear production in California this year will amount to 180,000 tons, the Federal State crop report indicated, compared to 234,500 tons in 1926. The 1928 production will include 160,000 tons of Bartlett and 20,000 tons of fall and winter pears.

Although no actual figures are yet available in the disposition of the pear crop, the tonnage cannot be in all probability a little under that of a year ago, and the tonnage dried about two-thirds as great as last year.

The total estimated movement in carload lots is 1800 cars, compared with 960 cars in 1926.

WATTESON PROPERTY SALE CONTEMPLATED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Creditors of W. W. and M. Q. Watteason, bankrupt Inyo county bankers, serving terms in San Quentin, have been summoned by Referee in Bankruptcy Thomas J. Sheridan to appear before him on the 26th inst.

Trustee W. Higgins has received offers totaling $35,308 for three pieces of property formerly owned by the brothers in business. If sale at that price is approved by Sheridan and the creditors, the proceeds will be divided among the latter.

Radical Textile Speaker Seized

GASTONIA (N. C.) Nov. 18. (AP)—Police halted an asserted inflammatory address to textile workers at Mount Holly, near here by George Beul, organizer for the National Textile Workers' Union, this afternoon and charged him with intent to incite a riot.

He also was charged with resisting an officer and carrying a concealed weapon. Mayor Hoffman at Mount Holly conducted a preliminary hearing and fixed bond at $800.

Police said Beul told the workers the National Textile Workers' Union "will not stop at anything and laws do not matter."

Soldier Kills Wife and Self

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Apparently influenced by jealousy, Private J. E. Blaney, Presidio soldier, shot and killed his wife who had locked herself in their home today. He then committed suicide.

Scores of neighbors witnessed the domestic quarrel that preceded the shooting and saw Blaney climb through a kitchen window as his wife attempted to jump from the roof.

A few moments later four shots were heard. When police broke in the house, both were dead.

FOUR DROWN AS CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER

SIoux FALLS (S. D.) Nov. 17. (AP)—Trapped in an automobile which overturned into the Big Sioux River in Sherman Park here, four persons were drowned early today. The victims were Marie Lauter, Beatrice Mandell, William Quiney and Howard McHenry, all of Sioux Falls. All except Miss Mandell were students at Sioux Falls College.

Must Men Fear 40?

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains, are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting free book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostate gland to its proper functioning. Arrange immediately for this book. Call in person if possible, otherwise mail your request to The Electro-Thermal Company, Dept. HEARING ON RAIL
PLEA NEAR END

Bay City Direct Testimony
Will Close Today

Espee Head Stated to Take
Stand This Week

Lines Seeking New Area to Bolster Appeal

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY

"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Tomorrow night probably will see the conclusion of direct testimony to be given the Interstate Commerce Commission through Chief Examiner Mahfie on the application of the Great Northern and Western Pacific railroads to link their lines as far as the railroads themselves are concerned.

Warren Olney, Jr., chief of counsel for the Western Pacific, and F. G. Dorey, chief of the legal staff of the Great Northern, have half a dozen more witnesses whose testimony is expected to consume most of the day.

When that testimony has been heard, Mahfie stated, he will launch into the supporting testimony of the intervenors in the case who are favoring the 200-mile link construction in Northwestern California and Southern Oregon. There are some two-score of these bodies, the list headed by ten States. The States, Mahfie said, will be heard first. They are represented by railroad commissions or similar bodies, California among them. The others are North Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and Utah. The Nevada commission has intervened in behalf of the Southern Pacific.

SHOUP TO TAKE STAND
Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Company, and one of the foremost figures in the railroad world today, probably will not take the witness stand until the latter half of the week. His testimony is expected to be one of the high spots of the hearing and a major factor in the Southern Pacific's battle to keep the Great Northern out of California.

In that effort, Shoup opposes, among others, Arthur Curtis James, whose $1,000,000 share of stock in the Southern Pacific is, in the belief of James, the largest individual holding in the company. James has testified he also owns $4,000,000 shares of Great Northern stock and a similar amount in the Western Pacific.

James believes the development of Northern California and Southern Oregon which will go hand in hand with the proposed new railroad line not only will benefit the Great Northern and Western Pacific to a material extent, but also will aid the Southern Pacific in obtaining new business.

Although no indication of Shoup's forthcoming testimony has been given, he is expected to stress the contention the territory at issue is not capable of supporting another railroad system and if future development warrants it, the Southern Pacific, already in the territory, is in a better position to furnish it by new routes or feeder lines than is an organization coming in on a new basis.

ESPEE AIMS SHOWN

Southern Pacific and allied attorneys, led by J. J. Foulke, have left no doubt that the railroad's belief it is capable of and willing to provide all the service needed. They steadily have hammered, on cross-examination, along those lines, bringing clearly the Southern Pacific's willingness to enter into freight interchange with other railroads, including those of the appellants, to meet any and all demands of service, even to running the crack passenger trains of the Great Northern system into the San Francisco Bay district over Southern Pacific lines by a transfer at Elmer's Falls or Chenoix, Or.

FIGHT ON SUGAR
TO START TODAY

Impost Most Contentious of Tariff Bill Items

Factions Divided on Question of Increasing Duty

Smoot to Lead Forces After Higher Rates

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—

The sugar tariff, most contentious of the thousands of impost items embraced in the Hawley-Smoot bill, will come before the Senate tomorrow facing parties and factions divided on the question of an increased duty.

The contest, which will be a resumption of weeks of argument in Congressional committee rooms during the summer, is expected to develop a clear-cut issue whether there is justification for a rise in the present 1.75 cents a pound rate on Cuban raw sugar.

The Senate already has gone on record as opposed to levying duties on products from the Philippines, which ship between 400,000 and 600,000 tons of sugar annually to the United States free of duty, and against abandonment of the 40 per cent tariff preference granted Cuban sugar under the Cuban-American reciprocal trade treaty.

SMOOTH TO LEAD

Without such preference, Cuban sugar would pay a tariff of 2.25 cents, the same as levied by the United States against other countries, but which is rarely effective. The House raised the Cuban duty to 2.40 cents and the world rate to 3 cents. The Senate Finance Committee has increased the duty to 2.50 and 2.75 cents, respectively.

Chairman Smoot of the Finance Committee, who hails from Utah, a big sugar beet - producing State, will lead the Republican forces favoring a higher duty.

The Republican independents, led by Senator Borah of Idaho are divided on the question. Senators Borah and Brookhart, of Iowa, are inclined to the bounty principle as the only means of encouraging increased growth of sugar cane and beets, although the Idahoan never has committed himself definitely on that point.

Other Republican independents are said to be opposed to a bounty and also to a higher tariff.

SOME FAVOR DELAY

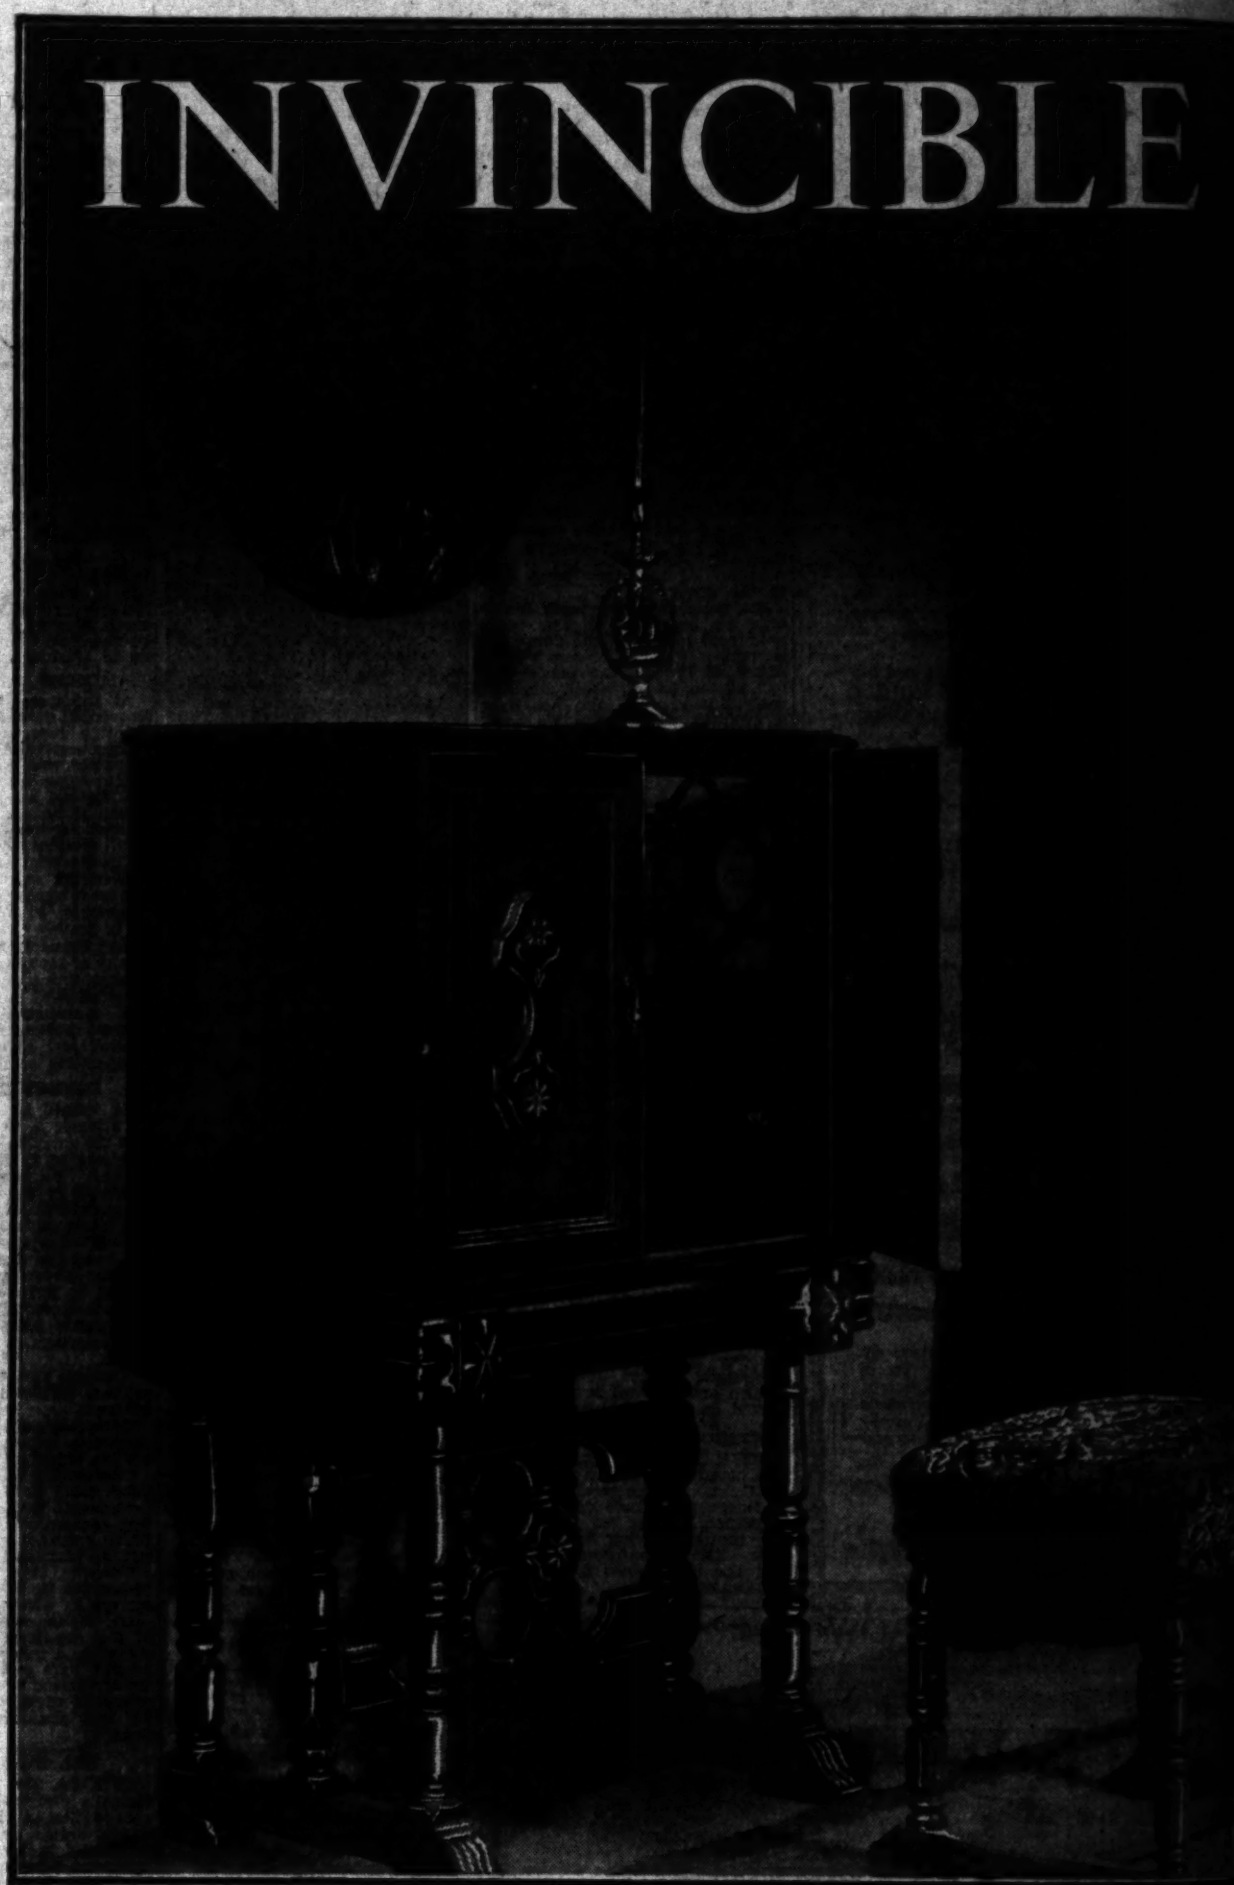

Aside from the two Democrats from Louisiana, Senators Broussard and Russell, who will favor the House increase of sixty-four hundredths of a cent, the Democrats generally are expected to line up for the present law. Louisiana is the principal cane sugar-producing State in the country.

While the Louisiana delegation and Smoot are ready for the struggle, some Senators are for postponement of the sugar schedule until other rate sections are disposed of. The reason for this has not been disclosed.

Night sessions will be resumed this week in an effort to make as much progress as possible in the two weeks left of the special session. Some believe that with a three-hour session every night and continuance of the seven-and-a-half-hour meetings daily the bill could be passed before the regular session.

Others, however, long have held that Christmas would be the approximate date for passage. Senator Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, in a statement tonight summing up the situation as he saw it, predicted passage of the measure in two weeks after reconsideration began in the December session.

Right—A peaked lapel double breasted worsted curl overcoat with derby hat. There were hundreds of them and they looked exactly what they were—very well dressed

Between halves—out came a big bass drum and when it was opened—out came hundreds of balloons and pigeons—that sparkled and flashed against the haze of a November day.

On the extreme left is the deep piled Camel's hair coat—there were hundreds of them—belted—and in some cases—the belt was thrown away in the excitement. Next..... is the dignified Montagnac—double-breasted with peaked lapels. It was as much of a favorite as Elder or Saunders

Here's number 15—and as he went up the field he looked more like "9 1/2 flat." And as you look across the field from box F. 32 (thanks to a good friend) you get a glimpse of the two great coaches

SENATE BLOC
TAKING FORMYoung Guards to Aid Hoover
in Tariff BattleMeeting Called for Tonight
by RepublicansLeaders of Regulars Wonder at Sign of Revolt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—The uprising in the ranks of the younger Republican senators in the Senate began to assume organization from today as a meeting of the twenty-five members counted in the group was called for tomorrow night.

Disclaiming any immediate revolt against the old guard leadership in the Senate, the "young guard" leaders insisted today that their attention is centered on keeping the Senate in a desperate drive to complete action on the tariff bill before the regular session opens in December.

Senator Allen of Kansas, one of the newest members of the group, called the meeting for tomorrow night—a dinner between the afternoon and night sessions of the Senate.

A close relationship between President Hoover and the party regulars who bolted the leadership of Senator Jones of Washington, the acting Republican leader, last week to block an adjournment of the special session is asserted by the group.

"Hoover regulars" is a term used today by Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, one of the leaders of the "young guard" movement, in speaking of the new split in the Senate Republican ranks which has left the majority divided three ways.

The new Republican faction which came forward without warning last week is recruited principally from the newly elected members and from those who are up for re-election next year. Dismissing the group, Senator Allen said:

"We are a group of fellows helping the Republican party and the administration by getting the tariff bill in the best shape possible. We are simply getting together for the purpose of passing a tariff bill in a reasonable time."

HOOPER BLOC
"We have a real Hoover bloc," observed Senator Robinson of Indiana, another of the "young guard."

Senator Allen disclaimed any drive against the leadership of Senator Watson of Indiana, who has been forced to rest from the strain of the long tariff fight.

Nevertheless, the old guard leaders in the Senate, including Senator Jones and the veteran Senator Simmons of Utah, who is in charge of the tariff bill as chairman of the Finance Committee, are looking on with suspicion at the activities of the younger group.

Bootlegger Bridegroom Cries at Spouse's Bier

HERKINOTON (Kan.) Nov. 17. (AP)—The body of Louise Bassett, 28 years of age, of Kansas City, shot to death by Sheriff Sydney C. Dederick last Friday night in line of duty as he clung to the side of her retreating, liquor-laden motor car here, was viewed today by Jerry Bassett, her bootlegger husband of five weeks.

Bobbing Bassett, alias Horton, who married the woman while the wedding trial in jail at Cottonwood Falls, Kan., on a liquor charge last October, was led away from her by Chase County Sheriff Dederick, who brought the car to a halt when Mrs. Bassett slumped in her seat dead, was held here today while County Attorney Scott attempted to gather evidence to prefer a charge of persistent liquor law violation, punishable in Kansas by penitentiary ranging up to life imprisonment.

Although Harris said he was merely the woman's driver and that the car, its forty-gallon liquor cargo and the revolver with which she threatened the sheriff belonged to her, Scott was informed today that the "chameleon" had been arrested by another marriage, must serve a year in the Chase County Jail on a liquor charge. Mrs. Bassett had visited him once a week since she engineered their fall wedding early last month. She, too, had been married before and had one child.

After attempting to halt the liquor car a mile east of here Friday night Sheriff Dederick clung to the side where the woman was sitting, in a wild ride into Herkinton, while she, said to have been intoxicated, prodded his ribs with her revolver and told him to jump or she'd "show him to hell."

ROOF LANDING SAVES LIVES

Seattle Pilot and Two Boy Scouts Escape in Forced Descent After Motor Freezes

SEATTLE, Nov. 17. (AP)—Coolly selecting the flat roof of a downtown department store for an emergency landing when the engine of his airplane froze while he was taking two Boy Scouts on a sightseeing trip over Seattle, Bob Wark, veteran pilot, brought his crippled craft down with only minor injuries to himself and his passengers about noon here today.

The plane was demolished.

The passengers, Ben Taylor, 17 years of age, and Fred Knop, 15, both of Port Angeles, were here attending the annual Scout exhibit.

They decided to see Seattle from the air before returning home. They were taken to the City Hospital for examination after the crash and were treated for minor injuries.

Wark took off from Boeing Field with his passengers, circled over the city and was ready to return to the field when his engine froze. Realizing that it would be impossible to make the field, he selected the department-store roof.

In order to avoid striking the brick wall at the edge of the roof with the landing gear, he turned the plane slightly, and it landed upside down. The propeller tore two holes in the roof and broke a water pipe which started the automatic sprinkler system.

Wark and his passengers had extricated themselves from the wreckage before the fire department arrived. The firemen immediately began spreading canvas over merchandise on the floors below. Damage to the store and stock was said to be slight.

A previous report by Lockhart said the Chinese authorities were attempting to obtain his release from the bandits, who described themselves as belonging to the fifth regiment of the Fifth Red Army.

BERLIN BALLOT SHOWS RED GAIN

Communists in Second Rank After Socialists

BERLIN, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Election returns for Berlin's Municipal Council today show the Communists succeeded in usurping second place, heretofore held by the Nationalists. The Socialists were leading, but at midnight the Communists were running them a close second with the Nationalists ranking third.

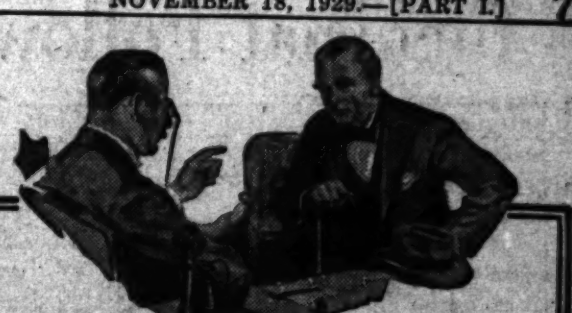

The Socialists, who were not represented in the previous town council, are breaking in with almost as many votes as the Democrats. At midnight the Socialists and Communists together, however, hold a crushing majority of votes.

The police arrested 337 fighting agitators, 280 of whom belong to the Hitlerites and Fascists. Hospitals report only a few casualties.

Woodcock to Aid Dry Law Survey

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17. (AP)—Amos W. Woodcock, United States District Attorney for Maryland, has been named to aid the National Commission of Law Observance and Enforcement in its studies of prohibition enforcement.

The announcement by the commission today said it had arranged with the Attorney General to obtain the services of Woodcock for a short period.

SIZE and SERVICE

THIS is a very large organization, because size is essential to the highest efficiency in our line.

But in our growth this Bank has not deviated from the high standard of personal service with which it began.

There is no relationship between size and the spirit of service. A one-man bank with one customer might be devoid of that spirit. Responsible officers of this Bank, forty years ago, were developing an atmosphere of consideration for customers and for the public as an essential for growth. That atmosphere has been extended, until now...as then...it surrounds every employe and every officer at every Branch.

You will find this a very powerful and a very efficient, and a very pleasant Bank in which to carry your financial business.

Stanford to Limit Ducats to Students

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 17.—Declaring that the "board of athletic control has neither the inclination nor the time to play policeman" in trying to eliminate the practice of student scalping of big-game tickets, Alfred R. Masters, general manager of the board, today came to bat with the Stanford student body and delivered a telling sock with the announcement that, as a result of flagrant evidence of scalping, the athletic authorities will seriously consider henceforth limiting students to the purchase of rooster tickets only, permitting alumni to buy the allotment of 35 seats which now are apportioned to undergraduates, at the rate of two to each student.

Three unbeaten teams—two of them of major importance—were knocked out of the national championship race in Saturday's contests, but none of the titles can be claimed as yet.

JONES PRAISES IRISH

Playing of Notre Dame Backfield Victory Over Trojans Possible

BY HOWARD JONES

University of Southern California

Nov. 17.—The 120,000 people who witnessed the game between the University of Southern California and the University of Notre Dame today said that they reviewed a thrilling game evenly matched and this accounted for the fact that both teams returned to the forward-pass game in their efforts to score.

In my estimation, Cannon played a great defensive game at guard for Notre Dame as did their captain, John Law. Moynihan played a strong game at center for Rockne's team.

In commenting upon line play I can't help but especially comment upon the end play of Tappan of Southern California. In the three years which he has played for the Trojans, I have never seen this boy play a poor game of football, and he is as good as any end I have seen play this year. The work of Conley, Notre Dame's right end, in receiving forward passes, was of the first-class order.

In a general way, Notre Dame excelled in their down-the-field play on punts and in their open-field blocking. In a game of this nature there were errors by both teams such as always come in big games, and we must remember that these boys playing the game most of the time are giving their best.

The game of Saturday will go on the record as one of the hardest-fought games of the year. We, of Southern California do not feel disgraced in being defeated by a great Notre Dame football team, well coached and well drilled in the fundamentals and strategy of the game.

Occidental Has Slight Edge Over Pomona in Contest to Decide Conference Championship

BY HEAVEN DYER

Next Saturday is the beginning of the end of the football season. The fourth Saturday in November brings a general wind-up all over the country but this year there are five Saturdays in the month and as a result many teams still have two games left.

Thousands of Los Angeles fans will pull out Thursday and Friday for Palo Alto where, on Saturday the Golden Bears of California attempt to win their first outright Coast championship. It is since the days of Andy Smith, locally thousands will journey to Claremont where these old-time rivals, Pomona and Occidental, lock horns in the game which will settle the Southern California Conference championship.

JONES TALK AT FEAST STIRRING

Coach Says Irish Have Best Set of Backs Ever Seen

BY PAUL LOWEY

Sports Editor of The Times

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Howard Jones, the head coaching mind of Southern California, told celebrators at Notre Dame's victory banquet Saturday night that the Irish have the finest set of backs he ever saw in action.

Local newspaper writers commented extensively on Jones' banquet remarks, and they were glowing today of the brilliant triumph scored by Notre Dame—a one-point margin in a 13-to-12 game that was featured by remarkable line play and wonderful individual feats on the part of the backfield men of both teams.

One writer describes the game as "a battle of furious line play and brilliant forward passing. The deadly tackling and charging defense of both teams broke up play after play. It was man to man, body to body, fought with unswerving ferocity but minus any show of ill feeling."

In describing Saunders' dazzling run through the whole Notre Dame team another writer writes that "Saunders not only has wonderful playing ability, but is also blessed with brains of a great size."

The line play of both teams is praised by still another writer, who

Football Coach, Princeton University
(Copyright, 1935, N.A.A.A.P.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Yale staged a fine comeback in the second half of the game with Princeton and won by 13-0. In the first two quarters honors were about even, but in the second half Yale had a marked advantage.

Donald R. McClennan was the better than the Tennessee team did Saturday.

McClennan's brilliant play was a beautiful exhibition of offensive football. It was a wide sweep with the end and the back on the end. The two backs on the end were back and McClennan ran for the long side of the field. The Princeton left side was completely blocked.

SECOND DEATH IN TRAGEDY

Mrs. Emily Jenkins, Whose Self-Inflicted Wounding Caused Husband to Shoot Himself, Succumbs

COLTON, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Emily Jenkins, whose self-inflicted bullet wound caused her husband to kill himself and unwittingly wound a neighbor, died in a hospital shortly after midnight.

The husband, Fred W. Jenkins, 30 years of age, former Philadelphia architect and lately a chicken raiser at Fontana, near here, found his wife on the floor yesterday, a wound in her body below her heart and a gun near by.

Mrs. May J. Vernette, 53, who heard the shot, entered the house and found Mrs. Jenkins shot herself in the abdomen. Physicians said today Mrs. Jenkins had a good chance to recover.

Deputy sheriffs who investigated said Jenkins recently lost $25,000 in investments.

Notebook Clew in Poison Case Found Fruitless

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 17.—A date book, said to have been owned by Edgar E. White, 45-year-old real estate salesman who was delivered to his own home dead the 7th inst., has been found by O. A. McCollum, police sergeant, who is investigating the case.

The book, McCollum said, contained a number of names and addresses of persons who were checked in the case. It was found in the home of a man who is reported to have driven the dead man to his home and then disappeared.

Where White obtained the drug, who, if anyone, administered it to him, where he was when he took it, or who gave him the poison and who delivered him to his home in his own car are questions confronting the detective.

BARKING BABES PUT IN BARKING DOG CLASS

ALHAMBRA, Nov. 17.—The city is considering an ordinance to curb howling dogs, growling roosters and barking parrots by classifying them as nuisances and making their owners subject to misdemeanor charges.

City Attorney R. D. Wickham, who is drafting the proposed ordinance, has received a letter from "A Taxpayer," who stoutly holds that crying children should be put in the same category as barking dogs. The writer said that he didn't object to crying babies, but that he did have strong objection to the "humored child" that bellows and yowls to the extent of keeping the neighborhood awake at night.

IMPERIAL HIGHWAY ASSOCIATION FORMED

VAN NUYS, Nov. 17.—Plans for the widening and repaving of Ventura Boulevard from Sepulveda Boulevard to the west city limits, a distance of several miles, are nearing completion, according to L. O. Turner, district engineer for Los Angeles in San Fernando Valley. He states that the rights of way have been obtained with the exception of two landowners near Glendale, which will cause the institution of condemnation proceedings under terms of the Matton Act.

With the completion of this bit of work, which will go as far as Calabasas, Ventura Boulevard will become one of the most important highways, and one of the most heavily traveled, in Southern California, it is declared.

REDLANDS BOY GIVEN HIS CHANCE

Chandler Ide Chosen to Compete for Cecil Rhodes Oxford Scholarship

REDLANDS, Nov. 17.—A Redlands boy, Chandler Ide, son of Dr. H. C. Ide, pastor of the Congregational church, is one chosen to compete in Los Angeles for the Cecil Rhodes scholarship at Oxford University in England on December 7.

The examinations, which will be directed by Frank P. Gilmah of San Francisco, provide the winners with two years of study at Oxford beginning next October.

Ide is a student at an honor school in Redlands High School with the class of 1928. At present he is a senior in Pomona College. The young man was president of his high school class during one year and was president of his freshman class at Pomona College. In high school he attained distinction as a debater. He won the right to represent Redlands in the National Oratorical Contest on the United States Constitution, won the district finals and took second place in the Southern California contest. He was secretary of the Associated Student Body at the high school and a member of the team.

John Ide, his elder brother, recently won a $1000 scholarship in competitive examinations and accepted a graduate course at the Harvard College of Engineering.

Webster Buys Ventura-Ojai Auto Stage Line

VENTURA, Nov. 17.—The Webster Transportation Company yesterday began operation of the Ventura-Ojai Auto Stage Line. The line was bought Thursday for $10,000 from H. M. Schedule and service will remain the same until the Webster Transportation Company is ready to make changes. The company is expected to pass on a permit for the municipal system at next Monday's meeting, according to M. L. Webster, manager of the line.

Division of the city into two zones, with the inner zone starting at "Pine" street and Ventura avenue, embracing the heart of town and extending east to Catalina street, is part of the proposal before the Council.

Word from the commission authorizing the new route is expected early next week, and the city Council is expected to pass on a permit for the municipal system at next Monday's meeting, according to M. L. Webster, manager of the line.

Woman Vanishes During Sojourn in Fruit Camp

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 17.—Local police are asking aid of officers in near-by communities in locating Mrs. William Newman, 38 years of age, blond, who dropped from sight at a fruit camp here about 7:30 p.m. yesterday. Mrs. Newman is about 5 ft. 4 in. tall and weighs 135 pounds. Here eyes are blue and she wore shell rim glasses, a blue and white flowered dress, and green and white slippers when she disappeared.

She had no hat, coat or pocketbook. Members of her family she would visit briefly at a near-by tent in the fruit camp. When she failed to return her mother-in-law, who had been waiting to shop with her, went to town alone. There she met her mother-in-law, who told her that Mrs. Newman was supposed to have visited with her, but she had not seen her. The husband was notified and enlisted aid of the police. He is a fruit grower and has no difficulty of any kind and believes his wife has been kidnapped. There are no children.

Officers J. L. Brown and Thomas Marney found the body of a woman who was identified as Mrs. Newman. The body was found in a field near the fruit camp. The woman had been abducted.

TWO BANDITS MAKE HAULS

One, Unmasked, Steals Up Santa Barbara Store Head and Gets $200; Masked Man Robs Service Station

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 17.—A lone unmasked bandit last night robbed Piggy Wiggy Store No. 4 at Haley and Milpas streets of approximately $200 and a few minutes later, a service station at Cactus and Salinas streets was robbed by a masked man, not believed by police to be the same person. The unmasked bandit entered the Piggy Wiggy store and demanded all the money in the cash register, according to Jack Horner, manager, in his report to police.

In giving an account of the hold-up, Horner said he assisted the robber in selecting a quantity of merchandise just before the robbery took place. Within thirty minutes after the robbery James Butler, 315 Jennings street, attendant at a gasoline service station at Salinas and Cactus streets, notified police that he had been held up at the point of a gun and robbed of $50 by a masked bandit, as he was counting the day's receipts.

The last counting of money when a man wearing a black mask approached him, and pointing a gun at his head, demanded that I move away and keep moving," Butler said.

The bandit took all the money from the cash register and walked away. Butler to police. Officers were coming the city, but no arrests had been made at an early hour this morning.

A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

That ship riding the rippling water, so very near and yet so hideously far away. In silence Tarzan stood watching the vessel. He saw it turn toward the east and finally disappear around a headland on its way he knew not whither. Then he dropped upon his haunches and buried his face in his hands. It was after dark that the three men returned to camp on the east shore. . . . The night was hot and still.

No slightest breeze ruffled the foliage of the trees or rippled the mirror-like surface of the ocean. The whole world seemed as though hushed in slumber. Only a gentle swell rolled softly in upon the beach. Never had Tarzan seen the great Atlantic so continuously at peace. He stood at the edge of the beach gazing out to sea in the direction of the mainland, his mind filled with sorrow and brooding.

From the jungle close behind the camp came the uneasy wail of a panther. There was a familiar note in the wail, and almost mechanically Tarzan turned his head and answered. A moment later the tawny figure of the beast flung out into the half light of the beach. There was no moon, but the sky was brilliant with stars. Suddenly the savage brute came to the side of the man, almost before Tarzan was aware of his presence.

It had been long now since Tarzan had seen his old fighting companion, but the soft purr was sufficient to assure him that the animal still recalled the bonds which had united them in the past. The ape-man's fingers fell upon the beast's coat as sheets rubbed against his muscular legs and he fondled and caressed the wicked head while his eyes searched the tawny waters. Presently he started. WHAT WAS THAT?

SURVEY RESULT STARTLING

Petroleum Engineer's Research Throws New Light on Present Condition of Industry

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

Having made the discovery that oil wells, the country over, die at the rate of 250 per month, J. B. Keobler, petroleum engineer of Los Angeles, has made a nation-wide survey and has ascertained that 1200 wildcat and semiwildcat wells now are being drilled in the expectation of discovering new sources of petroleum production.

In California 103 wells are being drilled in search of new pools of oil, while 1100 wildcat wells are being drilled elsewhere in the United States. While the figures are not Mr. Keobler's it has been ascertained by statisticians many times in the past that about one wildcat in every 100 discovers oil production of some consequence, so it may be said that the prospect holes are correct, that the prospect holes now being drilled may find ten or a dozen new pools.

FAILING SOURCES

According to Mr. Keobler's figures, there were in the United States a year ago 22,230 oil wells with an individual average daily output of 7.61 barrels of oil. Six months later, he finds, the number of wells has decreased to 21,301, a total of 929,707 wells, each producing an average of 8.74 barrels per day. The average taken in all of the new wells in greater fields. The daily average output of all pumping wells in the oil fields of this country is less than one barrel, Mr. Keobler reports.

FEWER BUT BIGGEST

While California has fewer oil wells than any other state, it leads the entire country in the individual daily output of its wells. They are 10,336 in number as of June 30, 1929, and its individual daily performance is rated at 76.06 barrels of petroleum—more than six times the production of the Oklahoma state and about ten times the average individual daily output of all the oil wells in the United States.

DEAD SEA MINING SPEEDED Salt Production to be Operative Next Year and Other Mineral Development Extended

JERUSALEM, Nov. 13. (Exclusive)—The dead sea area is proving a treasure trove of valuable mineral deposits for the Anglo-Palestine syndicate that obtained the concession for the salt deposits.

Preliminary experiments have almost been completed and an expansion is now being planned. Production for the eastern market is to begin in 1930.

The experiment now being made in the laboratories at the Dead Sea is at accelerating the process of evaporation. The heat of the sun alone is responsible for 75 per cent of the actual production at present.

The Palestine Mining Syndicate, the research department of the concessionaires, also has extended its operations to the minerals that lie in the land about the sea. Petroleum deposits have been discovered but their value and extent have not been determined. It is not known whether the petroleum is deposited in permeable layers or in basins.

Boring operations are very costly, each trial bore costing $20,000 or $25,000.

The potash deposits along the shore are also being investigated to determine their value.

It is the intention of the mining syndicate to set up separate companies for the exploitation of each of the various minerals.

The climatic difficulties that may interfere with the work in the summer time might be met by transferring the living quarters of the workers during the hottest months to a cooler place and driving the men in cars to the site of work.

ILLINOIS STEEL TO EXPAND GARY PLANT

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (Exclusive)—Contracts have been awarded and work started on the $200,000,000 expansion program of the Illinois Steel Company, which will require close to three years for completion, according to an official of the company. Excavation work has started at Gary and South Chicago, and on the foundation for the open hearths and on the beam mill at South Chicago and virtually all of the machinery contracts have been awarded.

There has been much talk of a new ground, with a new plant, to be built in the South Chicago area. A hotel in the South Chicago area has been built, and a new plant is being built in the South Chicago area.

GIRL TURNS BENEFACTOR OF MASHERS

She Calls Ambulance for Trio Hurt in Crash After Molesting Her on Bridge

Accosted by three young men who she said attempted to force her into their automobile, Miss Theresa Pene of 2215 Sheridan avenue was credited yesterday with turning benefactor and summoning aid for them when her asserted assailants were injured in an automobile crash.

The young woman told police that when her automobile ran out of gas on the Macy-street bridge early yesterday she started to walk to a filling station. Three men in an automobile stopped her, she said, and endeavored to force her into the machine.

Breaking away, she ran back to her own machine, the men driving after her, she reported. As they turned in toward the curb their car crashed into the girl's parked machine, badly shaking and injuring the three men, according to the report.

Seeing the men were hurt, Miss Pene ran several blocks to a service station, where she called a police ambulance. At the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where the three were treated for minor injuries, they gave the names of Louise Robles, Fernando Romero and Tony Mendez. Robles, who was booked on a reckless driving charge, gave his address as 722 East Twenty-seventh street. The others, who were released after medical treatment, said they were transients.

Jackson Scholz Wins New Fame

For many years the name of Jackson Scholz signified just about the fastest human being that ever scurried over a running track.

Now it signifies an author of fiction of no mean success and promise of attaining a position in the field of letters as he did when for many years he admitted one Charlie Paddock as an equal.

Scholz depicted yesterday for the Hawaiian Islands aboard the Lascow liner City of Honolulu from the local harbor. He is in search of material for novels and short stories and plans to remain several months in Aloha-land.

CHEST FORCES REPORT TODAY

Leaders from Universities and Schools to Attend

Bouffé Scheduled to Deliver Principal Address

Reports from the 17,000 volunteer workers who have been working strenuously over the week-end in the Community Chest $3,000,000 fund drive, will be made this noon at the daily report luncheon, to be held in the Biltmore.

The luncheon will be featured as University and School Day. Representatives from U.S.C., U.C.L.A., Loyola, Occidental and California Christian College will be present, as well as workers from fourteen high schools. Campaign leaders expect this infusion of youthful enthusiasm to start off the second week of the drive with a spur of freshness toward the attainment of the remaining two-thirds of the quota.

The principal address is scheduled to be made by Frank Bouffé, president of the Board of Education. The will be followed by a five-minute talk on "Hospitality and Civility for Adults," by L. Irving Lipschitz, executive secretary of the Jewish Welfare Organization. The invocation will be delivered by Dr. Warren Cranston of the First Christian Church.

A number of prominent educators are scheduled to be present as guests, including Director Moore of U.C.L.A., President Van Kleeft of U.S.C., President Sullivan of Loyola University, President Bird of Occidental College and Dr. Arthur Braden of California Christian College.

McAllister, president of the student body of Occidental College; Peter McGrath, president of the student body at Loyola; Robert Keith, president of the student body at U.C.L.A.; Charlotte McGlynn, vice president of the student body at U.C.L.A.; Martha Jane Warner of U.C.L.A.; Glenn Johnson, former class president of U.S.C., and a member of the Trojan Knights.

Musicians at the luncheon will be furnished by Harold Roberts' twenty-piece U.S.C. band. The California male quartet also will sing a group of numbers.

The success of this week's drive will determine the success of the drive. Chest officials pointed out. Past campaigns have proven the fact that the last half of the quota always is the most difficult to get.

ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

The $3,000,000 quota for this year represents an increase of $800,000 over last year's total and Los Angeles' 100 per cent response to this year's drive is expected to be the 131 Chest agencies will be allowed to function on an efficient basis with adequate budgets.

"The economic efficiency of Community Chest administration of charities in more than 300 large American cities already has proved its value to Americans throughout the country," says a headquarters statement. "Los Angeles alone has fallen down in its support during the last year."

"Of the 250,000 pledge quota, 23,390, representing 24.99 per cent, have been obtained to date. The total amount of money raised is $1,049,542, which is 32.99 per cent of the $3,200,000 goal.

The raising of the remaining $1,150,458 represents the remaining 47.01 per cent of the remaining days of the campaign will place Los Angeles among the other public-spirited cities which have gone to the top in support of their charities."

COMEDIAN DEFINES REAL SCOTCH JOKE

Jury Acquits Him on One of Libel Counts

Disagreement Reported on Other Accusation

Woman Seeks Conviction on Second Charge

Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was acquitted last night by a jury of nine women and three men in Municipal Judge Pope's court on one of two counts of criminally libeling former Mayor Croyer.

The jury was unable to agree on a verdict on the second count of the complaint, standing 11 to 1 for acquittal when it was discharged at 8 p.m. last night, after deliberating since 12 o'clock Saturday.

Mrs. Sophie Looney was the one juror to disagree with the others on the second count. She declared that she did not believe Shuler's explanation of his motives in writing the allegedly libelous article.

One ballot was taken by the jurors in arriving at a not-guilty verdict on the first count. It was stated by A. L. Scudder, foreman of the jury and a retired State Senator from Berkeley.

"We did not feel that there was any defamation of Croyer's personal character in the article," explained the foreman.

FOUR BALLOTS

The first count of the complaint was based on an open letter from Shuler to Dist. Atty. Fitch in which the minister advised the District Attorney: "Don't take any bribes via the real-estate route, or you don't know what I mean, ask Mayor Croyer."

Four ballots were taken on the second count, the jurors standing 10 to 2 on the first ballot, 10 to 1 on the second and 11 to 1 on the third and fourth.

The second count of the complaint was based largely on another article written by Shuler in which Ann Koyne, former District Attorney, was accused of conspiracy to receive a bribe, was described as an "exploiter" and a few sentences later Croyer was described as "the chief exploiter of them all" as head of the city government.

It was stated that the majority of the jurors did not feel that there was any malice shown to sustain a conviction on the second count.

DEADLOCK REPORTED

The first indication that the jurors had agreed on one count was given by the foreman when they advised the court that they were ready to report. When they had taken their places in the jury box, Foreman Scudder advised the judge that an agreement had been reached on one count but that an agreement on the other could not be reached.

Judge Pope inquired of each juror if he or she thought it possible to reach an agreement on the second count and only one—Foreman Scudder—thought there was a possibility of change. Mrs. Looney said "absolutely not," Foreman Scudder as there still was one who hoped for an agreement, Judge Pope sent the jurors back for further deliberations.

Shuler was in the courtroom with his attorney, Paul Harkness D'Orr, when the verdict came in and congratulated the jurors. Deputy City Prosecutor Ray Brockman, in charge of the prosecution, declared that Shuler probably will not be retried on the second count of the complaint.

REASONS GIVEN

Mrs. Sophie Looney, Juror No. 5, who admitted she held out against a complete acquittal verdict, asserted that she was dissatisfied by conflicting testimony which she felt had not been cleared up by Mr. Shuler's explanation.

"The doubt in Mrs. Looney's mind pertained to an article named in the second count of the charge against Mr. Shuler in which he was accused of libeling former Mayor Croyer."

"I held out because I believed that my own sense of justice would sustain me even if all of the others believed the other way," she said. "I had no opinion concerning the guilt or innocence of Shuler when we went into the jury box. I voted for an acquittal on the first count, but I did not believe that sufficient evidence had been introduced by the minister to disprove the charge on the second count."

"From the first I realized that I was alone in my opinion and I was determined to retain it until arguments could persuade me the other way. All of the jurors got along very well together and there were no heated arguments. The men jurors merely voted as they believed and made little effort to dissuade me, but the women, who were very nice, mostly tried to change my opinion."

"When Judge Pope sent us back for further deliberations, I voted for an acquittal on the second count."

EX-OFFICER LANDS IN CELL

Charles (Cholo) Johnson, Dismissed Policeman, Held After Asserted Rampage at San Pedro

Charles Johnson, former police officer, known as "Cholo," who was dismissed from the department several years ago for drunkenness, yesterday found himself locked in the San Pedro jail on another charge of drunkenness. The arrest followed an asserted rampage at the Harbor during which, police reported, he dared anyone to arrest him under pain of instant dismissal by Mayor Porter and the Police Commission.

Johnson was taken in custody by Patrolman Vigneau after the latter had withstood a torrent of abusive language hurled at him by the former officer, according to the report. He directed police attention to himself by forcing an entrance, it is charged, into the home of Olovanni Marogna at 297 West Eleventh street, San Pedro. Accompanied by his wife he rang the bell and when Mrs. Marogna refused him admittance he brushed

SHULER VERDICT FAVORS PASTOR

Jury Acquits Him on One of Libel Counts

Disagreement Reported on Other Accusation

Woman Seeks Conviction on Second Charge

Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was acquitted last night by a jury of nine women and three men in Municipal Judge Pope's court on one of two counts of criminally libeling former Mayor Croyer.

The jury was unable to agree on a verdict on the second count of the complaint, standing 11 to 1 for acquittal when it was discharged at 8 p.m. last night, after deliberating since 12 o'clock Saturday.

Mrs. Sophie Looney was the one juror to disagree with the others on the second count. She declared that she did not believe Shuler's explanation of his motives in writing the allegedly libelous article.

One ballot was taken by the jurors in arriving at a not-guilty verdict on the first count. It was stated by A. L. Scudder, foreman of the jury and a retired State Senator from Berkeley.

"We did not feel that there was any defamation of Croyer's personal character in the article," explained the foreman.

FOUR BALLOTS

The first count of the complaint was based on an open letter from Shuler to Dist. Atty. Fitch in which the minister advised the District Attorney: "Don't take any bribes via the real-estate route, or you don't know what I mean, ask Mayor Croyer."

SAUGUS BANDIT SUSPECT TAKEN

Hold-up's Description Said to Fit Prisoner

References to Trick Horse Lead to Arrest

Sudden Affluence at Time of Robbery Cited

G. L. Lester, 46-year-old teamster, whose description is said to tally closely with that of the bandit wanted for wrecking and robbing the Southern Pacific West Coast Limited near Saugus a week ago, was under arrest at El Centro, according to a telephone message received at the Sheriff's office here. The message said Lester answers the description of the train bandit, even a minor detail of dress. Lester was taken in custody at Calipatria by Deputy Sheriff Sharp after fellow-workmen, on a construction gang there, reported he had been talking at great length about a trick horse he owns. Frequent allusions to a trick horse, it was recalled by the officer, was reported as having been a characteristic of the bandit-wrecker.

HAD MUCH MONEY

Capt. Howard Brooks of the Sheriff's office, who is investigating the hold-up, said he had received word that the man under arrest in El Centro had been missing from his employment from Saturday night preceding the wreck until the following Monday night. He told his fellow-workmen he was going to Los Angeles to collect an inheritance of $20,000 and when he returned he seemed well provided with money.

Capt. Brooks said the Sheriff of Imperial county had questioned the man for several hours before telephoning to the Los Angeles authorities and that the suspect stubbornly refused to reveal any of his supposed movements in this city, or give any information as to the money he is known to have during the past week.

Two deputies from Los Angeles were scheduled to leave late last night for El Centro to question the suspect further and to take with them the gray coat found near the wreck and to look along a trail left by the bandit with purses and business card taken from passengers during the robbery and to be expected to have been discarded during his flight.

TOLD OF HORSE

Victims of the hold-up recalled after the wreck that the bandit had told them of having a horse named by several of them reported to the deputies investigating the robbery, that they thought the man was a narcotic addict. Capt. Brooks said yesterday the El Centro officers declared the suspect there is a mercurial man.

After a week of search for the train bandit, the deputies active in the hunt said the man arrested to Imperial county is the first suspect who has answered all of the details of the description broadcast after the robbery.

DOCTOR TO BEGIN HIS DEFENSE

Bold Trial in Woman's Death After Operation to be Resumed Today

The defense is scheduled to open today in the trial of Dr. Francis J. Bold, Whittier physician on trial before Superior Judge Wilson on a charge of second-degree murder growing out of the death on September 13, last, of Mrs. Carmelita Willette.

The State asserts Mrs. Willette died from the effects of an illegal operation said to have been performed on her by Dr. Bold. Defense Attorney William T. Kendrick, Jr., has announced the defense will try to prove that Mrs. Willette already was suffering from a fatal infection at the time she was called on Dr. Bold for treatment. It is expected the physician will take the stand in his own defense.

If convicted, Dr. Bold will face a penitentiary sentence of from five years to life. U. S. Dist. Atty. Barnes is prosecuting.

ADVERTISING SHEET CASE CONSIDERED

Appellate Court Ponders South Gate Ban Against "Shopping News"

Whether the Down Town Shopping News, a publication devoted exclusively to commercial advertising, is in the same class with handbills and dogers, whose distribution is a misdemeanor under an ordinance adopted by the city of South Gate, is a question now before the Appellate department of the Superior Court.

The matter went before the court in an appeal from a South Gate justice of the peace court wherein Roscoe D. St. John was fined $1 by Judge Neff for distributing the advertising paper. St. John was held before the court on a charge of violating an ordinance adopted by the city of South Gate on June 13, last, which forbids the distribution of handbills, dogers and advertising papers of a similar nature, on the streets and in the yards of residents of the city.

Represented by Attorneys Lawler and Dugan, St. John took an appeal from Judge Neff's ruling of guilty. After a hearing Superior Judge McLucas, Bishop and Shaw, the tribunal sitting in the Appellate department of the Superior Court, took the decision under submission.

St. John's appeal is made on the ground that the complaint against him does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense. It also is argued by attorneys that the Shopping News is not in a class with handbills and dogers, and is not the kind of advertising matter designated in the new ordinance.

It further is argued that the ordinance is unconstitutional and void if it prohibits the distribution of publications of the character of the Shopping News. Counsel for St. John also declare that the ordinance is unconstitutional and void because it denies the defendant equal protection under the law and arbitrarily discriminates against him and other persons engaged in the distribution of publications containing commercial advertising, but incapable of being entered as second-class matter under the provision of the United States postoffice regulations, such discrimination being in favor of persons engaged in the distribution of publications containing commercial advertising, but capable of being entered as second-class matter.

POLICE ADVICE GIVEN DYERS

Industry Told Best Solution of Racketeering Lies With Itself Rather Than Officers

Racketeering and sabotage in the cleaning and dyeing industry here can be cleaned up best by the members of that industry, according to advice given the industry by Lieut. William F. Hynes, head of the police intelligence bureau. Hynes' advice is given in a report made from his observations as head of the squad dealing with racketeering and sabotage.

Lieut. Hynes asserted that racketeering's only alibi hold in Los Angeles has been in the dyeing and cleaning industry. He cited violence, bombs, stink bombs, use of acids and other "Chicago" methods. After reviewing these outbreaks, the lieutenant charged that large sums of money have been collected in the industry to defend persons guilty of sabotage and violence, and to hush up charges. This, he asserted, is outright racketeering, and as long as such practices are condoned, the industry cannot command the respect and confidence of the city.

Pointing the way out, he added: "You should be able to clean your house and wash your own linen. I can assure you that the police department has no desire to wash your dirty linen for you, and will do so only if you fail to do the job yourself. You will have in your efforts my heartiest sympathies and active cooperation."

Indicating his idea of a solution, Hynes suggests a fair and profitable schedule of prices strictly adhered to by all. Another suggestion is that the industry abolish factional and sectional jealousies and the activities of small cliques which desire to rule.

CAT-AND-DOG CASE TO SET LEGAL RULE

Animal Hospital Owner Fights Brand of Trial as Public Nuisance

Can a cat-and-dog hospital be declared a public nuisance under the law?

This is the question that has been put up to Superior Judge McLucas, Bishop and Shaw, presiding in the Appellate department of Superior Court, in the appealed case of the People vs. Erick Bretting, recently fined in a justice court in Beverly Hills for operating a cat-and-dog hospital at 3008 Sunset Boulevard after having been notified by the District Attorney's office to move. Hearing on the appeal continued to December 13, next.

Owners of little animal hospitals in Southern California—and there are more than 200 of them, according to the records—lovers of pets and attorneys are watching the outcome of the case with keen interest.

The law relative to public nuisances declares that anything which is injurious to health or is offensive to the senses; or anything that is an obstruction to the free use of property where such act affects the entire community is a public nuisance.

In the case of Dr. Bretting, who was formerly a professor in the Royal Academy in Berlin, testimony was adduced to show there was no complaint that his hospital was insanitary or in any way a menace to public health.

Dr. Bretting was held before Justice of the Peace Billings, accused of maintaining a public nuisance in the form of a cat-and-dog hospital. Testimony was offered to show that the slumber of neighbors was disturbed by the dogs in the hospital barking during the night and early hours of the morning. It was also shown that the owner of the place had been given a notice in writing by Dist. Atty. Cray to move his hospital and he refused to do so.

In his defense the action brought by the State Dr. Bretting showed where he had the sanction of the Los Angeles Zoning Commission to place his hospital where it is, in the city of Los Angeles, Zoning Engineer Williamson on July 13, last.

The doctor emphatically denied that the barking dogs too neighbors heard were canines connected with his hospital in any way. He said when he first started, stray dogs came to his kennel, especially at feeding time. However, he had eliminated this by placing a tight fence, eight feet high, around his hospital.

At the close of his trial before a jury he was found guilty and fined $50. A motion for a new trial was denied and appeal then was taken.

SHAW MAY CUT OUT WALK

In view of the refusal of the Playground and Recreation Commission to pay an assessment levied against it because of the location of the West Los Angeles playground in the Stoner-avenue and Nebraska-avenue improvement district, the Council has instructed the City Engineer to eliminate the construction of a sidewalk in front of the playground property from the proceedings. If, after further negotiation with the commissioners, he is unable to persuade them to pay their assessment.

ordered from the house and advised to go home and "keep out of trouble." Johnson thereupon became frenzied, Vignone reported, and vilified both officers in an uncertain term, shouting threats that Mayor Porter and the police commissioners would see to their dismissal from the department if they dared to arrest him. Vignone and Cole turned a deaf ear to the abuse and returned to the station, convinced Johnson would go home.

FURTHER DEFIANCE

Shortly after their arrival at the station Johnson, unaccompanied this time by his wife, appeared, and, according to the report, again defied any of the officers assembled in the police garage on the street floor to arrest him. And again, it is asserted, he invoked the names of Mayor Porter and police commissioners in stoutly his defiance of arrest. Vignone then took Johnson into custody and booked him on the drunkenness charge. According to the officers, Johnson was disheveled and had several days' growth of beard.

Johnson figured recently as one of the most active of those appearing in support of J. A. Quinn's charges of insubordination against Police Chief Davis, aired at the preliminary hearing before the Police Commission.

On the witness stand, Shuler testified that he did not know that Cray ever took a bribe and denied that he wished that impression to be gained from his printed articles. Cray put on considerable testimony to prove money he made in real estate deals was the result of legitimate transactions.

Some of the members of the first investigating board, which is employed by the county, are expected to be ready to make their final report by the end of this week. The other board, acting under the direction of State Engineer Ryatt, has completed a preliminary survey and will go into details this week. This is the board that is functioning under the provisions of the State law requiring the State to approve all dam sites in California before

A prior commission of experts employed by the county, including geologists and engineers employed for the particular purpose of investigating and reporting on the dam site, recommended against the dam site, flatly as suitable for the proposed $25,000,000 high dam. They also recommended that the exploration work be continued to determine if it might be possible to build a low dam on the site. They also suggested that the county look for other possible dam sites in the canyon. This latter search is being made under Eaton's direction.

JURORS MAY GET POLICE CASE TODAY

Second Trial of Officers Accused of Rum Graft in Final Arguments

The case of Oscar L. Peterson, Leonard F. Gale and Harry M. Hill, police officers on trial for a second time on a charge of bribery, is scheduled to be given to the jury late today in Superior Judge Wood's court.

Peterson, Hill and Gale are accused of accepting a bribe of $400 from Harry B. McDonald, asserted the state law.

Taking of testimony in the second trial was concluded Friday and opening arguments to the jury already have been made by both the Dist. Atty. McKay for the State and Attorney M. C. Davis for the defense.

Attorneys Stanley Visel and E. W. Thompson will conclude today for the defense and will be followed by Dep. Dist. Atty. Dennison, who will close for the State. It is believed Wood's intention to instruct the jury and send them out to deliberate.

Defendants in the case, testifying in their own behalf, denied McDonald's charge and declared they told him "nothing doing" when he tried to "fix" them on a liquor case.

COMMUNITY CHEST'S NEED STRESSED FROM PULPITS

Ministers Declare Sacrifices of Pleasure Necessary to Follow in Footsteps of Master

Expenses of caring for crippled children, old and indigent men and women and other unfortunate persons of a great city should be borne in part by each citizen of the municipality, according to the opinion voiced by many Los Angeles ministers yesterday in appeals to their congregations to support the Community Chest. Unwilling to wait for a regular "Community Chest Sunday" in which to voice special calls for help, many pastors yesterday devoted part of their sermons to informing their people of the need for liberal donations to the Chest.

In one of his sermons Dr. Harold Griffie of Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church told his audience that whoever makes a sacrifice of personal pleasure in order to assist those in need is following in the footsteps of the Master, whose life was dedicated to the service of those who suffer. Dr. Griffie voiced his appreciation of the work of the Community Chest, which is furnishing a full team of workers to assist in the neighborhood campaign.

Preaching at Hollywood Lutheran Church, Dr. J. George Dorn said that the Macedonian call, "Come and help us," is a fit expression of the voiceless appeal which comes to us today from all over the world, especially in our own city at this time of the Community Chest campaign.

"Our nation bathes itself in selfish luxuries, while the rest of the world is destitute," said Dr. Dorn. "What emotions of horror must manifest the holy heart of God as He looks down upon all this! And what must be the appalling coldness and selfishness of our own hearts if we can contemplate the woe of the world and be unmoved to pity! To live in ease and comfort and to seek only our own pleasures and the safety of our own families, when all of God's creation is travailing in suffering and sorrow, is to brand ourselves as careless and heartless people."

DR. DYER ANNOUNCES MERGER OF CHURCHES

The American Church of Los Angeles, of which Dr. Frank Dyer is pastor, has been merged with the American National Church, with Dr. Dyer as preaching pastor, according to announcement made yesterday by Dr. Dyer at Fox Westlake Theater, headquarters of the American National Church in Los Angeles. Dr. Frederick E. J. Lloyd is archbishop and primate of the national organization and Dr. Gregory Lines archbishop of the Pacific. Preaching yesterday on "My Faith," Dr. Dyer spoke in part as follows: "I believe that God is more than power or principle, that He is a self-conscious being, our spiritual Father. I believe that worship is a recognition of the highest and best and that by its real use we rise into the highest experiences. I think that Jesus taught and demonstrated, and helps us to demonstrate the highest meaning of life. It is time that the church demonstrate unity through organic cooperative union because schism

ST. PAUL COMPARED TO KARMA YOGIS

Bramachari Nerdie discussed "St. Paul As a Karma Yogi" in his sermon yesterday at Mt. Washington Center. The speaker said in part:

"To the eye of a sage, the thinker, the philosopher, the doer, the saint, the poet or the artist, is of the same value and esteem, inasmuch as each expresses some particular aspect and beauty of multi-colored human mind. Of the characters that played divine parts in the spreading work of Christ St. Paul is the greatest man of constructive thought and action. His field of activity was large and diversified. Now he is warning the Corinthians against unrighteousness; now pleading the Christ cause with the Galatians, one time putting the blood of courage into the heart of the Ephesians, another time exhorting the Philippians to unity. Paul stands as a colossal thinker and actor on the stage of the spirit which reaches into his impersonal majesty," said Nerdie. Always active, alert, ready for the cross and lost in the thought of unselfish activity, St. Paul is a rare example of Karma Yogi, who, according to Hindu thinkers, are the unselfish men and women of divine activity and power."

CHRIST SHOWN AS HUMANITY'S IDEAL

"St. Paul had the spiritual and philosophic genius to extend the personal side of Jesus Christ to a point at which it reaches into his impersonal majesty," said Nerdie. Dhirananda in his sermon yesterday at Figueroa Playhouse. "In his epistle to the Colossians, Paul says that everything was created by Christ and that the 'hope of glory' is the Christ within man. It is in this sense that Christ goes beyond Christianity and becomes the ideal of humanity and the symbol of divinity. Philosophy is mere talk and deceit if it is not according to Christ, which is the principle of fullness. Mysticism leads to vain glory if it neglects its center and looks itself with its fringes. Asceticism with its ordinances is an empty show if it does not mean mortification or rather purification of the uncleanliness of the flesh."

SOCIAL COMMERCE OF HUMANISM DISCUSSED

"Impulsed and passioned through the many crises that have touched our common life in the social and spiritual commerce of humanism, is the conviction that the interpreters of God are men who tread in the present hour, the common highways of life," said Dr. W. Remfrey-Runk in his sermon yesterday at Brea Christian Church.

"A new era has dawned. Expansion is better than explosion, either in a laboratory or in a circle area. There is a strategy in providence. Norm and form both grow. Life has its seasons. Parliaments, like missions, must be acclimated or degenerate. The streams of life flow out to the sea. To mourn that we have not with us a Moses or a Gladstone is naive and artless. We have Edison, Einstein, Herbert Hoover and Ramsey MacDonald."

MODERN LIFE DECLARED TO NEED "TONING UP"

Dr. Sheldon Shepard preached at First Universalist Church yesterday on "Toning up life." He spoke in part as follows: "There is something in the drive of modern life that crushes the tone out of millions of lives. They walk the streets with the emptiness of age in their faces and one feels like crying out, 'Whose breath blew out the light within a soul?' Poverty, distorting toil, disappointment, hopelessness—these operate to take the tang and the tone out of countless lives, and we who believe in brotherhood and count ourselves a sentient, sympathetic part of one human family of God's children must regard it as our high privilege to lead the advance of progress that shall eventually snap the chains from the souls of every aspiring son of man."

PASTOR PAYS TRIBUTE TO CALIFORNIA GIRLS

Dr. John Sharp, pastor of Temple Baptist Church, preached yesterday on "The American Girl." He said in part: "The American girl is always a mystery. She is wild, undisciplined, unrestrained and vain. France regards her as a savage, primitive force with an appendage of desirable dollars. Germany thinks of her as an unquestioned financial strangle to be used to reinstate some old historic name. But America knows her for her real worth, claims her as an American asset and confesses that in the exhibition of her freedom and independence she is nevertheless the product of our American life and American race. We go to Boston, New York or Philadelphia to find the typical American girl. She may be found right here in California where Americanism comes to a climax and where the native-born girl is as beautiful as

Edward J. Poock, salesman, must spend ten days in jail for each of the three gallons of gasoline he was found guilty of stealing from a garage pump at 1813 South Georgia street, Municipal Judge MacCoy ruled following his conviction.

Harold O. Cooper, owner of the garage, was called by Deputy City Prosecutor Kaufman as chief witness. Cooper declared he saw Poock unlock the pump with a pass key and take the gasoline. He held Poock prisoner at the point of a revolver until the arrival of Policemen Gaunt, who made the arrest, he testified.

the blossoms on our almond trees, as sincere as sunlight and as good, I am convinced, as any girl to be found in America or in the world."

MORTALS-IMMORTALS SUBJECT OF LESSON

"Mortals and Immortals" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon yesterday in all Churches of Christ. Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The Golden Text consisted of Paul's inspiring words to the Corinthians: "We that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life."

A Scriptural passage in the Lesson-Devotion contained John's statement: "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death;" and another passage cited Paul's strong exhortation: "For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

A selection from the Christian Science text-book, "Mortals and Immortals," by Mary Baker Eddy, contained these words: "Mortals must grapple with death, and death must be the broader interpretation of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite. Yogi, that sin and mortality may be put off."

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES A Bedtime Story

FLIP BECOMES EXCITED
"It always well to be direct with strangers when you chance to meet."
—Flip de Terrier.

Unc' Billy Possum had spent a very comfortable night in a hole under the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard. I suspect he dreamed of many chickens. Anyway, the first thing he thought of when he awoke was chickens. He awoke very early, as is the way of the little people of the Green Forest. Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun had only just begun his daily climb up in the blue, blue sky. Unc' Billy climbed up on the old stone wall and looked over toward the henyard of Farmer Brown's Boy. He was disappointed, was Unc' Billy Possum. Not a chicken was to be seen. You see, it was too early. Farmer Brown's Boy had not yet come to let them out.

Unc' Billy was undecided just what to do. He yawned two or three times and then went exploring along the old stone wall. Finally he just couldn't resist the temptation to go over to that henyard. So he shuffled along over to the back of the henhouse. It was just then that Farmer Brown's Boy opened the backdoor and let Flip the Terrier out. Now, Flip was in the habit of running around the henyard and the barn, sometimes down in the Old Orchard, for a little exercise and to see what he could find. He had discovered that often during the night there would be visitors to the henyard—little people who wear fur and travel about at night. Many a time he had sniffed their scent and it always excited him.

This time Flip trotted along over to the henyard, sniffing here and sniffing there, as a dog will do. Finally he turned the corner of the henhouse and his quick eyes saw something moving. At first glance he thought it was some kind of a great rat with whitish, long and very untidy hair. With a sharp bark, Flip darted forward.

Unc' Billy opened his mouth, drew back his lips and showed a set of sharp teeth. With his hair standing up and those teeth showing, Unc' Billy looked very fierce. Flip stopped short. Unc' Billy snarled at him. He even took a step or two toward Flip, and Flip backed away hastily. Then Flip the lungs stimulates them, and oxygen is more plentiful in the blood stream.

The Anglo-Saxon racial strain, which is probably the most energetic on the face of the earth, was needed in the cold. The fact that these men had to struggle to overcome the freezing chill in the winter, and to shelter themselves and their own from the blasts of winter, built a tougher and more blood-circulating breed. Winter is a challenge that makes the red blood flow faster. It whips up new pep, new ambition.

The reason that so many people feel distressed with the cold weather is that they reverse many of their rules of health. The mapy air of winter acts as an appetizer and makes them feel like eating far more than is needed, especially of the starches and sugars, and instead of burning these carbohydrates up by exercising, the bulk of the population stays cooped up in houses. Most of the houses are overheated, and do not get aired out enough during the day, and this leads to a congestion of the lungs because of the foul, warm, humid air. Upon venturing out of an overheated room into the cold, the delicate, congested linings of the nose, bronchial tubes and lungs receive a severe shock which could easily be avoided if the rooms were not overheated and fresh air was allowed to circulate freely. Often, too, people wear heavy clothing in these overheated houses, and this produces a still greater congestion of the lungs, bronchial tubes and nasal membranes.

You can easily see a demonstration of how overeating brings on a crop of colds if you watch the doctors' offices shortly after the Thanksgiving and Christmas feasts. At the same time that more starches and rich foods are eaten, the additional mistake is usually made of using less of the fresh vegetables with the starchy meal, and at least one large salad daily. I am sure that you will find in the end that it is far cheaper to spend your budget on fruits and vegetables and keep well, than it is to spend it on cheaper starches and have to pay doctor bills.

The fruits and vegetables will give the body enough of the mineral salts and vitamins and bulk so that health can be maintained as usual. More cream, more butter and nut butters may be used
